Forum

Your comments are welcome in open forum, which is hosted by R-forge. It has two sections:

- help section, where you can ask for help with specific problems.
- open-discussion, where you can post general comments about unconstrained ordination analysis in JUICE, report problems and list your wishes for further functions, and

You need to register your account in R-forge and log-in in order to contribute - this is a necessary protection against spam and commercial garbage. We hope that you will find this function helpful!